

- Want to take part in a new competition?
- Are there things you don't like about the world that you would like to fix?
- We have a very special judge who is hoping to give out the prizes! This is Malala's father, Zia.

- Year 5, 6 and 7 pupils can enter one competition or both.
- The competition comes from one of our favourite books written by Malala.

THE AUTHOR: Malala Yousafzai was brought up in Pakistan. She insisted she would keep going to school when the Taliban said that girls could no longer go to school. She was very brave and she did suffer a terrible injury from an attack. She now lives in England and has won the Nobel Peace Prize. This summer she graduated from Oxford University!

THE STORY: As a child in Pakistan Malala wished for a magic pencil with which she could redraw reality. She wanted a magic pencil so she could use it to give good things to others and herself. As she got older, she wished for bigger and bigger things as she realised how much in the world needed fixing and how many things in the world were unfair.

OUR FILM: We have made a special performance of the book for you to watch! It stars some of us here at Oldbury Wells. It is on our website.
